MOTHER LOVE (NO. 2) Adoration of King Kiddie

By Eleanor Schorer.

May 5 last, is given the lion's share of the estate.

To this son, to whom Gen. Duryea is said to have been particularly devoted, is given the Duryea town house at No. 120 Eighty-fifth street, Brooklyn; a half interest in the Duryea camp at Blue Mountain Lake and an equal interest, with his brother, Harry H. Duryea, and sister, Mrs. Ellery O. Anderson, in the remainder of the estate. The papers left by Gen. Duryea do not show the value of the estate, but it is said to exceed $1,000,000.

The will further provides that the trustees shall hold $125,000 in trust for Chester Duryea during his life, to secure his always having an income of $4,000 a year. The will provides that when Chester B. Duryea shall in any year have less than $5,000 net income from all sources the trustees shall pay him such amount as will make up the sum of $5,000 for such year.

Chester Duryea, himself, is named an executor and trustee, with Harry H. Duryea and Cornelius B. Van Brunt. The will is dated March 14, 1913.

Friends of the late Gen. Duryea are somewhat surprised that no provision is made in the will for Chester Duryea's divorced wife and their young son.

Gen. Duryea is said to have been very friendly toward Mrs. Duryea, and during the marital troubles leading to her divorce from him she is reported to have sided with her. Chester Duryea is now confined in the prison ward of Bellevue Hospital, awaiting the report of a lunacy commission.

SHE TRIES TO STRANGLE DIVORCE CASE WITNESS

"Cattle Queen's" Mother Angered by Highball Testimony in Denver Court.

DENVER, Col., May 21.—Mrs. De Rita Wilson, mother of Mrs. Beulah Seep, the "Cattle Queen," who is suing Herbert A. Seep, son of a Standard Oil millionaire, for divorce and asking $100,000 alimony, made an attack upon a witness in the case late yesterday in the court room. She shouted at Clinton Marvin, who had given evidence against her daughter, that she would strangle him, and she was rushing toward him when her husband, Charles W. Wilson, and her daughter, Mrs. Seep, intervened. They seized her just as she clutched the man by the throat and hustled her down the stairs to the third floor of the court house.

Marvin, a saloonkeeper of Glenwood Springs, had testified that he served highballs to Mrs. Seep and Earl D. Rosenberg, whom Seep names in his cross-complaint as co-respondents.

Marvin swore that he served the highballs in a restaurant adjoining his saloon in November or December last. The Seeps were married Sept. 11 last and Seep claims that his wife then was in love with Rosenberg and intended to divorce him and marry Rosenberg as soon as possible.

ICEBERG THAT LOOKS LIKE ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL SIGHTED

Mauretania Warned Ten Miles Away by Big Drop in Temperature.

Following the feat of the Waterland, which monopolized the whole North River in trying to make a landing in Hoboken yesterday, the docking of the Mauretania to-day aroused admiration along the water front. The big Cunarder swept up the river, headed in the New York shore and snuggled alongside her pier like a ferryboat going into a slip. All the time had to do was to hold her steady.

On the voyage from Liverpool the Mauretania averaged 24 knots an hour. She sighted an iceberg last Tuesday night at 10.15 o'clock. The berg looked like St. Patrick's Cathedral afloat, the twin spires being almost photographically reproduced in ice.

The proximity of the iceberg became apparent when the vessel was ten miles away. The temperature dropped from 60 degrees to 36 degrees and Lieut. W. C. Battle, second officer, who was on the bridge, slackened speed and ordered a close look-out. When sighted the berg was three miles off on the starboard quarter ahead. It was in sight over half an hour. Half an hour after it was left behind the Mauretania received a wireless warning from the United States ice scout Seneca to look out for that identical iceberg.

KILLED BY HIGHWAYMAN.

Brooklyn Man Strangled to Death in Newark.

Joseph Bookser, whose home was at No. 428 Kosciuszko street, Brooklyn, died in St. Barnabas's Hospital, Newark, to-day from a stab wound in his neck. Bookser was taken to the hospital last night after he had been found in Weehawken Park.

He told the police he had been on his way to visit a friend and had taken the wrong car. He alighted to cross the park and was followed by a negro, who demanded money and when Bookser refused stabbed him and ran. He gave a description of the man.

COXEY TALKS UNTIL CROWD SEEKS SHADE

J. Eads How of Baltimore, with Seven Unemployed, Joins "Army" in Capital.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—"General" Jacob Coxey led his army up Capitol Hill yesterday, and while the army rested on the curbing the Commander-in-Chief harangued several hundred people on the evils of the economic system under which the country is operating.

Reinforcements of seven unemployed from Baltimore, commanded by J. Eads How, joined the army at the capital. After the private rode the General, Mrs. Coxey and their little girl in a buggy drawn by a Miamout mule. Coxey's son rode a burro in the parade. The General dismounted and pressed his way through the crowd to the Capitol steps, where, twenty years ago, he had been arrested for letting his army get on the grass. After he had talked for half an hour and his auditors began to seek shade trees Coxey marched his cohorts down the hill again and back to the livery stable, which the army is using as headquarters.

The army is expected to disband by degrees and the "General" probably will return to Massillon, O., next week to attend to his stone business.

Forty-two Coxey's Soldiers. Charles A. Downer, 60 years old, was found dead in bed in his room at No. 600 Grand View avenue, Ridgewood, Queens Borough to-day. A gas jet was open and the door and window of the room were closed. The man had been out of work and in his room were a number of tickets showing he had pawned almost everything he possessed.
